

Natural tones intertwine with different motifs, leaving room for small colored details that catch the eye in the Anni carpet design from Studioepe. While inspiration is distantly Bauhaus in design, the unique attraction comes from the execution itself- by overlapping the rugs, contrasts of patterns, textures, and colors take shape, enhancing the manual skills and craftsmanship of the manufacturers who intertwined them. The large, short-haired rugs are available in striped or checkered motifs, light or dark colors. The small carpet has a longer pile and takes the same color detail as its mat. Both sizes are hand-knotted in Nepal with natural wool in yellow or blue-colored details.
