

Bramante Credenza

Designed by Kazuhide Takahama

The Bramante Credenza is a storage unit with a contemporary look and architectural presence. Bramante draws on classic inspiration, and has become the emblem of the Ultrarazionale collection. The importance of this collection lies in its going beyond the limits imposed by the Italian Rationalist movement, reclaiming traditional materials as well as techniques, such as lacquer work, for large-scale production. While the reworking of the shapes and sizes of the Bramante unit has been undertaken in the spirit of innovation, the artisanal finish enhances the surfaces, with the many coats of lacquer applied making each piece unique, an item to be treasured.

The rework keeps the shapes and dimensions unchanged but profoundly changes the construction structure, eliminating the modules, thus making it more contemporary and adding interior lighting and continuous glass shelves with a spirit of innovation. The hand crafted finish enhances the surface with multiple lacquered passages that define its unique quality. It is available in the hand-shaded version with a combination of two different colors.
